

KHS PROJECT GRADUATION

Spring Hanging Basket FUNDRAISER

Fuchsias like to be in a shady location, either no sun or morning sun only. A full-grown plant will need to be watered every day. A hanging basket on a very hot day will appreciate water twice a day. If the direct sun is not on them, shower the leaves too. If the plant looks droopy, it needs to be watered.

Wave Petunias like plenty of water, full sun, and a careful watch for the petunia budworm (actually a caterpillar), which eats the blossoms.

Ivy Geraniums grow like ivy, spreading and trailing into long cascades or compact mounds. The blossoms are full and abundant, with semi-double or double flowers, depending on the number of petals. Like all geraniums, they do best in sun, but can also tolerate some shade.

New Guinea Impatiens like partial sun and needs moderate moisture
